Art in Odd Places (AiOP), New York City's annual visual and performance public art event, arrives in Indianapolis for the first time! Experience 27 creative works by artists from 15 different cities: music, dance, site-specific installations, sound art, sculpture, performance...up and down Market Street.

AiOP reminds us that public spaces function are the epicenter for diverse social interactions and the unfettered exchange of ideas.

The Indianapolis edition of AiOP is brought to you by Animating public space. Causing interaction. Inserting surprise. These are the artistic goals of Art in Odd Places in Indianapolis. In the shadow of our city's monument to freedom, the AiOP 2014 theme FREE features projects that fulfill your wishes, dig up dreams and turn the workaday street scene on its head. Artists and interlopers from as far away as Berlin, Germany and as close as Fountain Square offer you their extraordinary interventions in ordinary places, prompting a fresh way of seeing and experiencing public space, and Indianapolis itself. Enjoy!
